

HomegrownLeaders

PRESENTED BY THE N.C. RURAL CENTER

Homegrown Leaders is a regional leadership and economic development training that develops and supports highly-skilled, highly-motivated leaders who are committed to building regional collaboration across multi-county regions in the state. Homegrown Leaders addresses the need for high-quality, professional leadership and economic development training that equips community leaders with the skills they need to lead long-term economic advancement in their community and region and seeks to increase cooperation, collaboration, and coordination across a broad array of organizations and sectors.

Homegrown Leaders provides opportunities for participants to hear from economic development and leadership experts, engage with and learn from peers, apply knowledge through classroom exercises, and learn about community successes. Homegrown Leaders will:

- Increase understanding of data and trends in your region;
- Increase understanding of comprehensive community economic development;
- Teach skills in effective collaboration at the local and regional levels;
- Increase knowledge of resources available to your community and how to access them;
- Build a regional network of community leaders that promotes peer learning, resource sharing and collaboration;
- Become part of the Center's leadership alumni network, which provides annual professional development and peer networking with nearly 1,200 rural leaders from across the state.

When:

The NC Rural Center will host a series of Homegrown Leaders leadership and economic development trainings over the next two years in partnership with the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) and regional Councils of Government (COG). The next training date is May 29-31, 2019 in Cullowhee, NC at Western Carolina University. This Homegrown Leaders training is a residential program. Participants should be prepared to stay on campus for the entire training.

Who Should Apply:

Participants include elected officials, government staff, nonprofit and faith-based leaders, business leaders, economic development professionals and other community-minded people in the 29 county ARC region of North Carolina. Eligible counties for the May 29-31, 2019 training are: Cherokee, Clay, Swain, Graham, Macon, Jackson, and Haywood.

How to Apply:

Applications are available on the Rural Center's website www.ncruralcenter.org. For the May training, applications are due by April 26, 2019. By completing an application, you are committing to attend the May 29-31, 2019 residential training. Completing an application does not guarantee participation in the program.

Cost:

Registration fee is $500, which includes training, lodging, materials, and food (dinners are not included).

What Participants Are Saying:

“Homegrown Leaders is one of the most valuable leadership workshops out there. You’re engaged the entire day, taking notes and learning things that you can put into action immediately. That combined with the networking is invaluable.”

“One of the best classes I’ve ever taken part in. Insightful, entertaining, and knowledgeable. I highly recommend it!”

“This was a great opportunity to meet local leaders and to learn about their efforts as well as their hopes and dreams for the area. Homegrown Leaders provided jam-packed days of learning about ourselves, our community, leadership, and cooperation.”

“Homegrown Leaders was a valuable tool to learn how to collaborate at a regional level. The resources we were given were extremely helpful to find information to further networking efforts. Excellent course, worth the time and effort to attend and participate to gain broader leadership skills.”

If you are interested in learning more about Homegrown Leaders, contact Bronwyn Lucas, Director of Leadership, at blucas@ncruralcenter.org or 919-250-4314.

